Rifles Here For Local Home Guard

Sierra Madre Unit Begins Drills And Prepares For First Mobilization

Members of the Sierra Madre Unit of the California State Guard were advised this week that their rifles will be ready for use when the unit musters in, probably next week.

Last night men who have already returned their application blanks gathered at the office of Dr. M. H. A. Peterson for medical examinations which were given by Dr. Peterson and Dr. L. M. Evans, and later went through a short drill in the city hall basement. Hereafter they will meet each Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the city hall.

Men who have joined the unit since last week are W. Jarvis Barlow, Jr., Elmer R. Garrison, Attilio A. Guardia, Colin F. Hill and Thomas Schwartz.

First peace-time mobilization of the California State Guard, Southern California units has been set for Sunday, June 1, at 11 a.m. at the Griffith park airport, according to word received from the office of Adjutant General J. O. Donovan at Sacramento.

This will be a voluntary one-day mobilization and test maneuver, but at some time during the day, there will be a review with Governor Olson, Brigadier-General J. O. Donovan and other military and civilian leaders in the reviewing stand.

The occasion will also mark the inauguration of the State Guard's first aviation unit of 13 planes under command of Major Wm. Leslie Dunn.

Officers and men of the Guard who participate will provide their own transportation to and from Griffith park and their own subsistence for the one day assembly.

Plans for the first spring concert go forward with many local groups cooperating with the Arts Guild in lending support to a cultural enterprise which would do credit to a much larger city. Gagna has devoted much time in the past months to the training of 18 talented musicians, some of whom are members of the Pasadena Symphony orchestra, as Gagna is a member of the Los Angeles Symphony.

Helen Swaby is the concert mistress of the youth orchestra. The program is to include the lovely Mozart Symphony in G minor, and solo violin numbers by Miss Swaby.

Poppy Day Is Proclaimed By Mayor

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will begin their annual Poppy drive here tomorrow, and will be about town selling poppies made by disabled World War veterans. Proceeds from the drive will benefit hospitalized veterans and their children. Poppy posters made by students at St. Rita's school will also be on display in downtown store windows.

Tomorrow and Saturday were proclaimed as Poppy Day in Sierra Madre in a proclamation issued yesterday by Mayor W. J. Schiltz, who called upon all citizens to observe these days by wearing the memorial poppy of the American Legion Auxiliary. The proclamation stated:

"Whereas, the wearing of the memorial poppy is a fitting and effective way of keeping bright the memory of those young men who gave their lives in America's service in the World War, and

"Whereas, men of Sierra Madre served gallantly in that war, some being called to sacrifice their lives in that service, and

"Whereas, the present national emergency requires the same type of unselfish patriotism displayed by the men and symbolized by their memorial flower, and

"Now, therefore, I, W. J. Schiltz, Mayor of the City of Sierra Madre, do proclaim, Friday and Saturday, May 23 and 24, to be Poppy Days in the City of Sierra Madre, and urge all citizens to observe the day by wearing the memorial poppy of the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary in honor of the men who died for America in the war of 1917 and 1918."

No Contest In Sight For School Trustee

Little interest is being shown by Sierra Madreans in a possible change on the local school board, as no resident has as yet filed against the incumbent, E. E. Hitchcock, for the position on the board which becomes vacant with the expiration of his 3-year term, the last week in June.

Anyone planning to file is reminded that 5 p.m. tomorrow is the deadline. The election will be held at the grammar school June 6.

Observations

By Lee Shippey

MAYBE we wouldn't amount to much without our ex-soldiers. They're always setting a good example in patriotism and civic spirit, which is a part of patriotism. All of us should feel it our duty to see that the cemetery is in order for Decoration Day, but the Legion is taking care of the job, and all of us should give a hand.

Saturday night there will be a benefit for the V.F.W., a fine body of men. They need uniforms to make the fine appearance they should, and the show is to raise funds. The show will be worth twice the money, and the uniforms will make our post about the handsomest bunch you can imagine. When they wear them elsewhere people will exclaim: "What fine looking people they are up Sierra Madre way."

Lady Carey To Speak On India Again At Wistaria Supper

With the return appearance of Lady Willoughby Carey at the Wistaria Vine Supper Salon this Sunday, and the final preparations for the debut of Jascha Gagna's Arts Guild Symphony Orchestra, May 31-June 1, the big Vine's pre-summer series of big colony events promises to attract widespread interest.

Because of the enthusiastic response to her talk on India, acquaintance with Gandhi, and the British crisis in general, Lady Carey this Sunday is scheduled to speak on her psychic experiences in the Far East, with especial emphasis on Gandhi's philosophy of the brotherhood of man and principles of peace.

Nation Loses 20 Per Cent Of Its Trade

Cutting Off Of Foreign Market For Steel Products Held To Be Serious

Declaring that from 18 to 22 percent of our national productive wealth annually has been disposed of through foreign trade channels, R. E. Wright presented some pertinent facts to Sierra Madre Kiwanians Tuesday when he spoke on "The Application of Foreign Trade to the Average American Citizen."

Wright said that during the recent years 40 percent of American-made automobiles had annually reached foreign countries, creating a stable market for a large number of industries as well as automobile manufacturers. Automobiles, steel and various agricultural products he placed as the most important American exports, stating further that the present curtailment in America's foreign trade is being materially offset through huge expansion for national defense.

The speaker also touched upon the problems of reciprocal trade between the United States and the Central and South American countries, and post war adjustments which will confront the people of this nation with the close of present European and Oriental hostilities. Questions directed by Wright to R. C. Lewis, president of the Sierra Madre Savings Bank, brought forth many interesting insights on current banking problems, relative to foreign exchange and the nation's ultimate return to the gold standard.

One of the most interesting and humorous programs in the history of the club is promised for next Thursday evening which has been designated "Ladies Night." Today several members of the local club will be guests of Pasadena Kiwanians who have arranged a program which will feature the P.J.C. Bulldog Band.

War On Fire Hazard Will Start Today

Owners Ordered To Clear Weed Covered Lots—City Crews Will Go To Work

A resolution calling for removal of weeds in all open areas of the city has been adopted by the city council. Weed-grown lots have been posted and tomorrow Fire Chief Wm. Richards will begin his early summer inspection of all properties. Weeds, rubbish and inflammable materials of all kinds will have to be removed, either by the property owners, or by the city, in the latter case charges being levied against the property and added to the owners' tax bill.

Richards is urging all property owners to cooperate to the fullest possible extent, so that the work may be accomplished before the fire hazard becomes greater. Burning is absolutely prohibited without a fire permit, and the advisability of plowing vacant lots is strongly advocated by the fire department. Two local men with teams are available for this work, which not only benefits the soil, but lessens the danger and unsightly result of burning lots.

Long Time Resident Honored At Masons Mother's Day Party

Mrs. Hortense Hill, one of Sierra Madre's best known residents who during her years of residence here has worked generously for practically every organization in town, received recognition for her outstanding community service when she was honor guest at the recent Masonic Mothers Day breakfast.

Mrs. Hill came to Sierra Madre with her family in 1906. She was the first initiate into the Sierra Madre Chapter O.E.S. when it was formed in 1911, has been an active member of the Congregational Church, and until a few years ago, of the Woman's Club. Mrs. Hill was for many years a member of the Red Cross board of directors, and still remains active with the chapter, making many garments for war relief quotas and otherwise assisting whenever possible.

Arriving at the Masonic lodge for the breakfast, Mrs. Hill was escorted by a special table, and presented with a bouquet of roses, the entire affair being a complete surprise. Henry J. Nord, master of the Masonic lodge, gave the address and welcomed the large group of Sierra Madreans and their friends who attended.

As It Appears To me

Ah the life of a columnist—even a columnist on a small town weekly. Theodore Roosevelt must have had newspaper people as well as politicians in mind when he sagely advised everyone entering that field to cultivate a rhinoceros hide. We have been called many strange things, some of them not too acceptable to our way of thinking, but the absolute limit was reached today when a charming eyed southerner dubbed as a female Winchell! Just that perversion inherent in our nature is tempting us to have a bit of fun by living up to some of these questionable titles. For instance, imagine Winchell loose in a small town... even Sierra Madre!

Did you ever put some valuable article away for safe keeping, forget where it was, then turn everything upside down with no result, only to eventually find it in the most obvious place? We did this recently with a sheet of paper on which we had written some information about Herman Lerdahl, one of Alaska's ace aviators who has been flying the mails to all regions of the Territory for seven years. Sixty-three degrees below zero mean nothing to Alaskan flyers, it seems. Through almost every conceivable type of weather they carry mails to remote and lonely districts on regular schedules of one, two or three weeks, flying entirely without compass, charting their course by landmarks. Epical, is Lerdahl's account of his first flight over the territory with range after range of mountains gliding endlessly beneath him seeming to present no distinguishable landmarks. Someday, no doubt, these pioneers of the airways into the arctic circle will receive the recognition which their achievements merit. This northern pilot accompanied by his wife and son, was recently in Sierra Madre visiting the Benjamin Grammels before going south for a Mexican vacation. Soon he will be back in Fairbanks, setting out for another long flight to isolated villages whose only communication with the outside world comes through the radio, and that small group of courageous men who fly the mails.

Often it seems that the most conscientious and kindly people are the most quiet, and least recognized, so today our townsman of the week is Joe Swanson, who never fails us, no matter what we ask him, and often even goes far out of his way to help us a bit. If on Wednesday we are wondering how we will ever get time to call the pumping plant for the weather report, suddenly we look down on our desk and find it there for us. A very thoughtful person having remembered how rushed we always are on Wednesdays. Or should we need to go back into the records for rainfall figures a half century ago, Joe Swanson always manages to see that the information we desire is available. We are expressing our appreciation.

To Aid War Victims By Newspaper Drive

Seeking to raise fund with which to purchase materials for clothing to be sent to British war refugees, Sierra Madre chapter of the British War Relief is sponsoring a newspaper drive which began yesterday and will continue through tomorrow. Papers, magazines and clean rags tied in bundles are requested from townspeople. These may be left on the west porch of the Woman's clubhouse from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Additional information may be obtained by dialing 6231.

Further assistance in raising funds for the B.W.R. will be of the Wilson P.T.A., Wednesday, given this week by Mrs. Alice and Miss Olive Sedgman, through a benefit tea which they are giving at their home, 34 North Hermosa avenue, Saturday afternoon between 2 and 5 o'clock. Mrs. M. A. Capps will be in charge of a white elephant sale which will be a feature of the afternoon and asks that white elephant articles be left at the Sedgman home today and tomorrow. Others assisting are Mmes. A. E. Pulling, Maybelle Barker, R. E. Wright and the Misses Lalla Fagge and Kathleen Pulling.

HONOR MOTHERS OF WILSON'S 10-2 CLASS

Highlight at the last meeting of the Wilson P.T.A., Wednesday, was the president's luncheon given in Willard cafeteria in honor of the 10-2 mothers, each of whom was presented with a lovely corsage. The luncheon table was set with green glass and centered by baskets of sweet peas on a background of green. Local guests present for the luncheon meeting were Mmes. A. H. Embree, R. D. Andrews, Paul Carter and Ben Stinman.

UNCENSORED

By LEONE BAXTER

Maybe it isn't polite, but we have to chuckle at some of the brochures, pamphlets, leaflets and magazines that the various federal agencies are moved to prepare by the millions for the enlightenment of the country at large.

"How to treat a black eye," observes Walter Fink, the Shasta County newspaperman, "is an interesting subject for a government bulletin. More useful for most of us would be another on how to avoid getting one."

Whether there is such a bulletin, or whether Mr. Fink was just making a suggestion, we don't know. But we do know there's quite a lengthy government treatise just off the press on "How to lift heavy weights." We tremble to think of how many people it took to amass all the pertinent facts and figures in that lengthy illustrated report; how much it cost the government printing office to produce and the post office to distribute; and how many people in the 48 states have received the portentous information on weightlifting when never propose to lift anything heavier than a relief check or pension check.

Under the title, "Oh, Beverly Hills, What Big Boundaries You Have!" the Westwood Hills News-Press recently reviewed a WPA-complied volume called "Guide for Los Angeles and Environs." Pointing out a few germs of misinformation concerning the terrain encompassed by Beverly Hills, and the enrollment at UCLA and USC, the News-Press concludes with the terse comment: "Based on the accuracy of portions of the volume, it is not difficult to see why the writers are on the public rolls instead of working."

With the most of government spurring ahead like a rookie answering mess, growing heavier by the minute as defense needs mount, the average man wonders when some of the costly frills are going to be dispensed with.

"Yet," comments the Oakland Tribune, "we continue to receive government-prepared bulletins on 'Where Bed Sheets Wear Out.'"

The tremendous government output of largely irrelevant and often untruthful printed material is not, perhaps, quite such an amusing little foible as we were once prone to consider it. It's costly. And we're the people who pay for it.

THE NEWS extends birthday greetings and its best wishes this week to the following Sierra Madrenes, whose birthdays are indicated . . .

The... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

HOW the most moral people continue to harbor the most immoral cats. Not that we're complaining. Just registering an observation—in connection with the War. For the War we have with us, here in Sierra Madre—or God pity you, if you have it not!—in our hearts, in our minds, in our meditations—which really are our prayers, whether or not we regard them as such. And we have the War in our gardens, also. With all the fledglings now leaving the nest—song-sparrows, finches, mockings-birds, titmice. Look into the eyes of these fledglings—test their pure trustfulness—and you've looked into the eyes of all those slaughtered babies overseas. And watch the crafty, sleek, most perfectly armed and ruthless cats scheming and then putting through—according to plan—the death of these innocents—and you've seen the Nazis in operation.

THE sharpest teeth, the sharpest claws, the most perfect contempt for non-Cats. Yet, along with this contempt, the same smooth affectation of friendliness and lazy good-nature. Tourists, you understand; just tourists! But try to find out what they talk about when they get together in the dark. Fifth-Columnists then! To be sure, with an occasional blood-purge of their own. But brother-Nazis all—we cats; and the meanest, poorest cat superior to any dog, or human being, or feathered songster. In short: The Cat's place in the order of Creation—as seen by the Cat—is that of Absolute Master, the Overlord. With the right to torture, the right to kill, the right to live above all law except Cat-law. And to this end the Cat has achieved such perfection as to dazzle some good people—just as the human Nazis have.

SPEAKING of this perfection—of this transcendent evolution of the fang and claw, of social cruelty and selfish luxury (all so cat-like)—that has now culminated in the Nazi war-machine—nor forgetting, either, that we Americans have supplied the killers with their most efficient inventions (airplanes, submarines, tanks, new techniques)—we're given to wonder just what all this has to do with Life in General—with Life and Death and God—with God—"Him that filleth all in all"—the same in Berlin, in London, in Washington, in Sierra Madre. There's that haunting bit in the Bible (Luke 10:17): "And the seventy returned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subject unto us through thy name."

AN old thought; one that persists. We've gone on inventing, making, using—doing all sorts of things—things beyond the wonder in all our world's accumulated wealth of myth and fairy-tale. That cosmic eye at Palomar, the forty-ton machines to smash an atom, the air-liners to out-race the sun, the short-wave sets, the television. But doing all this in a way to suggest the activities of spoiled children. As if the Heavenly Father had given us the earth and the heavens like his watch and chain as a sort of Christmas present, a mechanical toy of superlative make and of infinite variety and value. And we, the infant prodigies, had promptly begun to take it apart—to see what made the wheels go round; doing this to the utter ruin of the marvel, and with no thought whatsoever as to what may have been the wishes of Him Who Gave us the Gift.

NOT only of Him who Gave us the Gift but of Him Who Made this marvel. All as simple as that. So what! Well, this. We've torn the world apart. We've toyed with just about everything from atoms to galaxies. But now when it comes to putting this marvel together again—you know! Only the Maker Himself can see to that. (Although the Nazis think otherwise.) And only through the shocks and panics of this present crisis have some of God's children now become aware of their childishness. Now as it was in the days of Isaiah: "Behold it was for my peace that I had great bitterness." And the Lord has said again: "Come now, and let us reason together." More and more the children respond, draw near. He tells them: "For behold, I create new heavens and a new earth." And they believe him.

IN THEIR hearts paraphrasing Milton's urgent plea: "What in me is dark, illumine, what is low raise and support; that to the height of this great argument I may assert eternal Providence, and justify the ways of God to men." And thus from cats and songbirds to the war of the Angels and the Fall of Lucifer in Paradise Lost, we think of Lucifer and all the Nazis, not without compassion, when we contemplate

MARCH OF RIMES

By H. F. NOAKE

SNAKES ALIVE

Not all the snakes are in the weeds. Nay brother, some are wearing pants; and furthermore they're venomous, and busy as a mess of ants. Regrettably it is indeed Saint Patrick doesn't live today. Perhaps he'd venture over here and drive our human snakes away. Methinks 't would be a nasty job, his skill put to an acid test; and chasing a reptilian horde he'd find no sinecure, at best. One specie, aptly labeled "red," is over here with ill intent; they plan, by fostering revolt to overthrow the government. Saint Pat would find war mongers too, who hope and pray we'll join the fight; a golden opportunity, to make a million, over night. Yes, Patrick, we'd feel much relieved if you'd come back and take command and round up every single snake, the way you did, in Ireland.

Legislative Comment

By T. FENTON KNIGHT
Assemblyman, 48th District

There appears to be a growing lack of coordinated thinking between the Assembly and the Senate along certain legislative lines. While there is no open breach between the two houses it is becoming increasingly evident that separate schools of thought are taking root in the respective branches of our State legislature. The recommended restoration by the Senate committee of certain budget items so laboriously deleted on the Assembly side of the Capitol is a fair example of the diversified viewpoint that is becoming more frequently evident. It is now quite apparent that the Senate will have to consider the advisability of restoring many of the cuts made by the Assembly ways and means committee. Much has already been done in this direction by the Senate committee to which the budget, already passed by the lower house, has been referred. It is predicted that the budget will be offered on the Senate floor for final discussion the latter part of this week.

Reapportionment of assembly and congressional districts at this session of the legislature is another question on which the Assembly and Senate continue to experience difficulty in finding common ground. The reapportionment bill passed by the Assembly weeks ago is still being held up for consideration in committee on the Senate side. Any radical changes in the lines drawn in the original bill will probably experience serious opposition in the lower house. This bill has been delayed so long in Senate committee that many members are seriously worried over the increasing danger that no bill will be passed and reapportionment will be made by the group of State officials as provided in the Constitution.

Another bill, just passed by the Assembly, which may encounter rather serious difficulties on the Senate side, authorizes an increase of $2400 a year in the salaries of the Los Angeles County Supervisors to compensate them for services rendered as directors of the county flood control district. Those in the lower house who opposed passage of this bill did so on the ground that the salary paid a supervisor of a chartered county is a question to be decided by the citizens of the county affected and not by the legislature.

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

As the story goes, it seems that some of the firemen—Barney Davis, Fred Lewis, Lee Hibbs and Gordon McMillan, arranged a fishing trip to a spot along the coast. It was a question as to whose car to drive for the trip. All volunteered the use of their's. They were really anxious to get there, so they decided not to take Fred's; Barney's consumed too much gas and Mac's needed a new tire, so Hibbs was the choice. Well, being his car, Lee expected to drive. He was somewhat surprised when the question arose as to who was to be the driver. "Why, I'll drive myself," said Lee. "You will not!" yelled the group as in a chorus. (These boys must have been out with him before.) After a long time, the decision was made and McMillan was the driver. The destination was reached without being delayed by cops, but as the report comes in "they should have been." Fishing was fairly good. Each fellow got himself a few ocean fish. Then suddenly, the fish stopped biting so Barney went away to get some special bait. Besides this (as he was tired fishing) he was given the duty of taking care of the fish that had been caught. When he left for the new fashioned bait, he buried the fish in some cool sand, to be uncovered at his return. In the meantime, the boys had gradually moved to some distance from where he had left them. Barney found the boys, but as he would, he was unable to find the fish. They not only lost the biggest fish, but the little ones as well.

THINK THIS OVER

Money can build a house but not a home.—Minerva.

The gourmet who looks with find Germany has dealt them Jokers!

One year ago the United States began firing its defense guns. After 12 months of rearmament effort, military and government authorities to believe that America will have to expand that program on a scale vastly surpassing anything the public has yet dreamed of. Whether this nation convoys or not, whether this nation is involved in war or not, they foresee a period fraught with dangers to the country's safety that is almost certain to call for doubling, or tripling, the aluminum and synthetic rubber industries, greatly expanding the aircraft plants all over again, and increasing still further the number of forging, electric power, electro-metallurgical plants, and building additional steel furnaces and rolling mills. This tremendous industrial expansion cannot be accomplished within a month or a year. The need for it, if America soon stands alone in a hostile totalitarian world, will embark this nation on a course of cast armament production for years to come.

FINDS GOOD FISHIN'

Local fishermen looking for a place where the trout really bite are advised by Fred LaLone to try Devil's Canyon, near Chilaro. LaLone went into the Canyon early Sunday morning and by daybreak had caught six good sized trout. His day of fishing was interrupted when he joined a searching party and spent several hours looking for Curtis Mathewson, 12, of North Hollywood, who was lost in the region, but eventually made his way to the Angeles Crest Highway.

AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Ever since Eve and her Adam trouble the female of the species has wondered about intentions. What she did about them after solving that equation was her own business. Preston Sturges took his first seven-league hop to stage and film fame by a comedy called "Strictly Dishonorable," which comes to Pasadena Community Playhouse stage, May 27 to June 7, to tell all about Isabelle from the Deep South and what happened to her in the Wicked North.
